

PARKER

PARKUS STENCHIUS

AGE: ONE YEAR

BREED: LHASA APSO AND SPANIEL

GENDER: MALE

This curious creature is known as "Parker". Despite its deadly claws, vicious fangs, and naturally foul odor, it has been known to be quite docile around humans, even going so far as to give them very nice kisses. It has also been known to have exceptional manners, including utilizing outdoor bathroom accommodations rather than using your carpet, walking at a steady pace with its allies, and dishing out some of the most well-regarded snuggles currently recorded. Upon observation in its natural habitat, we have seen it playfully chasing butterflies, napping, sniffing the bushes, napping, eating, napping, napping, and... napping. This is not to say it is out of shape, however. Long walks appear to be something it enjoys doing with its friends, so if you end up befriending it, prepare your feet for a wholesome exercise routine.

MICKEY

MICKUS MEOWUS

AGE: FIVE YEARS

COLOR: ORANGE, WHITE

GENDER: MALE

This creature may be cute, but don't let that fool you. He might be the strongest, most vicious creature in this entire encyclopedia. While it is comfortable around human adults, we can't say the same for human children. The "Peaches and Cream" color scheme is designed to lure creatures towards it. Once its victim is within a close proximity, it proceeds with snuggling. While its snuggles are not quite as powerful or corrupting as the Parkus stenchius, they are still quite impressive. Mickus meowus conceals deadly claws within its soft paws, so when engaging in snuggling, make sure to watch for them. They are sharp.

DOTTIE

DOTTUM WIGGLEBUTUS

AGE: ONE YEAR

BREED: CATTLE DOG AND PITBULL

GENDER: FEMALE

This rare creature is known as "Dottie". It is one of the most well-mannered creatures we have seen to date. The most notable feature of this majestic beast is probably its eyes; note the different hue in each eyeball. Dottum wiggiebutus has been observed taking long hikes. That appears to be its activity of choice. It does not seem to understand how big it actually is, and it has been known to sit on people's laps. Not that there is any harm in that. While out on an expedition, we saw this creature in the distance. Its strong resemblance to a Jack in the Box Oreo Cookie Shake caused some of the crew to start chasing after it, only to find that it was, in fact, not a shake. Younger people could probably ride this thing like a horse... that will be our next experiment.

SKIPPY

SKIPPUN HOPPUM

AGE: UNKNOWN

BREED: ENGLISH SPOT

GENDER: MALE

OH MY GOSH! IT'S SO CUTE! LOOK AT THAT FOOD STAIN ON HIS CHEEK! SO

ADORABLE!!! Ahem... I will admit, even I fell for the spell of cuteness cast by this fluffy friend.

"Skippy" is quite an interesting creature. He loves to hop, and hop, and hop around. This creature is so cute, in fact, that even the most fearsome of demons are said to have tried to cuddle with it. And it's no mistake as to why: its big, shiny eyes put you under a curse of cuteness; its long, pointy, fluffed up ears provide a good petting area; its tail is like a little cotton ball. He also looks like an Oreo Cookie Shake... am I seeing a trend here?

BOBBIE

BARRELUS BOBBUM

AGE: SIX YEARS

BREED: BOXER

GENDER: FEMALE

This massive creature looks like a barrel! Make sure you don't trip on it! This beast is very easily excited, and it loves to roll around on the ground. If it engages in ground rolling, it would be a wise decision to give it belly rubs. It loves belly rubs. After rubbing it, it will become your best friend. Never hurts to have a body guard around, though, am I right? And it makes a great pillow too! While it doesn't take a huge liking to little kids, it appears this beast can be used as a mode of transportation for those small enough to fit on its back. You better be careful if you try riding it! Note: David Devol Inc. takes NO responsibility for any injuries that might occur while riding the Barrelus bobbum.

LAMBERT

DEAFUS LAMBERTUS

AGE: FIVE YEARS

BREED: BOXER

GENDER: MALE

This timid creature is known as Deafus Lambertus. It has this name because it lacks the ability to hear, which is a trait that is not uncommon in dogs with white fur. It has learned to adapt to life with this handicap, and it has done it quite well. It knows how to respond to hand signals rather than voice commands. Just make sure that when you pet it, it knows that you are there. It gets quite nervous when it thinks something is sneaking up on it. It walks very nicely on a leash, which is a new breakthrough for the wildlife of El Cajon. In the end, it is an all-around happy, well-mannered creature.

ZOEY

SKIDDISH ZOOM

AGE: ONE YEAR

BREED: BOXER AND LABRADOR

GENDER: FEMALE

This majestic beast is very skittish at first, but if you engage in fetch with it, it will become your best friend.

It has very smooth fur, which probably means it is capable of aquatic activities. It will be a bit spooked if you approach it too quickly, so make sure you go to it very slowly and kindly. It does not seem to enjoy walks quite as much as the other creatures that inhabit the area, but it will definitely play a game of chase or football with you if you make it happy. Despite its small size, it has been known to consume fairly large amounts of kibble, so if you decide to chill with it for a while, make sure you have enough money to buy a few rounds of chow and water.

SNOOKIE

SNOOKUM FATTUM

AGE: ONE YEAR

BREED: STAFF. BULL TERRIER

GENDER: FEMALE

This cute, stubby creature is, in the end, one of the cutest beasts in the valleys of El Cajonía. It has the floppiest tongue of anything we currently have recorded, and it loves to lick people with it affectionately. While it may look a bit menacing at first, closer examination reveals that it actually looks like some sort of Disney bear, like Winnie the Pooh or something. It most likely enjoys honey, much like the Pooh bear. Similar in manner to Barrelus bobbum, Snookum fattum enjoys rolling on the ground and getting its tummy rubbed. Who wouldn't want to rub that thing? She's like a little potbelly pig!
